

BIOFUELS AND BIOENERGY

Comparative study on the nutrient concentration and productivity of bio-slurry before and after treatment with chemical fertilizer

Kefale Wagaw and Kassa Widneh
Bahir Dar University, Ethiopia

In biogas plant, there are mainly two products: methane gas which is use for di erent purposes like cooking, lighting and slurry which can be used as organic fertilizer. The main target of this study was characterizing the slurry by measuring the relative amount of

Notes: