Improving patient/caregiver outcomes through enhanced teaching-IE3 as an educational tool

William Jessee
Cleveland Clinic Abu Dhabi, UAE

Some of the most common challenges faced by both patients with dementia and Alzheimer's, and caregivers/families of these patients are the understanding of what they should do. Better care from the medical end is possible if we implement a few small changes into our delivery of care, such that explanations and teachings are better understood, better learned and able to be utilized by the patient and caregiver. IE3 is my acronym for a great teaching method that is easy to implement and highly effective.
