

Optimization using central composite design (CCD) and the desirability function for biosorption of