

Longer eyes were found to have nuclear, cortical and posterior subscapular cataract and the study was stastically significant in all types of cataract.

Keywords: cataract, refraction, axial length.