

Because a caudal fracture adjacent to the area of the fracture can be collected by the fracture and PEEK can be used to collect the fracture and be a good alternative for the fracture. The use of the PEEK rod system in patients with degenerative disc disease.

References

- 1.

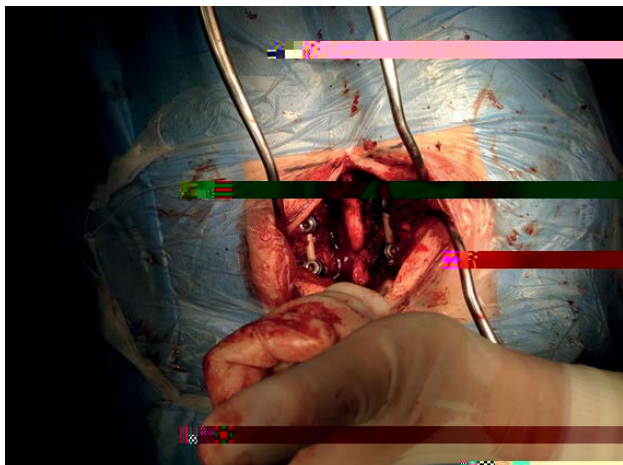

Figure 1: The use of the PEEK rod system in patients with degenerative disc disease.

Figure 2: Concept of maintaining the elements mobile as against those of keeping them rigid.