

Preventive interventions for a particular population to reduce the prevalence of obesity among children of racial background.