

Pseudoexfoliation Deposits on Bilateral Intraocular Lens Implants

Department of Ophthalmology, Teikyo University School of Medicine, California, USA

of life. Additionally, the deposition of pseudo exfoliation material on the IOL surface can lead to reduced contrast sensitivity, affecting the perception of fine details.

Several risk factors have been identified as potential contributors

