

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

June 10, 2000
National Journal of Medicine
Building 86
Beijing 100000
P.R. China

Letter to the Editor

I have read with great interest your article on the use of the Journal of Applied Microbiology in the field of medicine. I am pleased to see that the journal has become an important reference source for medical professionals. I would like to see the journal continue to grow and expand its scope to include more areas of medicine. I am sure that the journal will continue to be a valuable resource for the medical community.

Sincerely,
Ziyuan

Ziyuan
Department of Plastic, Reconstructive and Hand Surgery - Burn Center, Meimian Hospital, Fudan University,
Pathology Department, 24 Aachen Street, Germany
Tel: 49 21 1 241 244
zalyuan@ksh.com.cn

It is our pleasure to serve in Journal of Applied Microbiology. I am pleased to see that the journal has become an important reference source for medical professionals. I would like to see the journal continue to grow and expand its scope to include more areas of medicine. I am sure that the journal will continue to be a valuable resource for the medical community.

Journal of Applied Microbiology
The Journal of Applied Microbiology which would include technology
Pub Med Central
the journal to establish